

Presented Challenges

A mid-size physician practice approached Alpha II about our MIPS reporting services. Previously, the practice reported their MIPS data to CMS using their specialty Qualified Clinical Data Registry (QCDR) offering. However, they were concerned about the amount of staff time required to complete the manual data reporting tasks as well as scoring uncertainty - given they had no visibility into what areas would impact their MIPS score. Additionally, they knew the limited type and quantity of quality measures available through the QCDR adversely impacted their ability to maximize their MIPS points. Wanting to prevent negative adjustments to their Medicare reimbursements, they were looking for a solution to meet all of their needs.

How We Helped

The first step in engaging with the practice was to conduct a MIPS Opportunity Assessment, which analyzes their data to develop a strategic road map and identify the quality measures for which relevant data existed. Then, throughout the year, Alpha II provided regular feedback reports to identify proactive process improvements that positively impacted their ability to earn MIPS points. The proprietary algorithms within Alpha II's ONC-certified, cloud-based platform then optimized their MIPS score by selecting and submitting the combination of quality measures that earned them the most MIPS points. All without additional time and manual reporting from the practice.

Resulting Success

12%
increase in MIPS Score

75%
reduction in staff time

“Working with Alpha II has resulted in increasing our MIPS score each year and thereby protecting our Medicare reimbursements. Based on their expertise and using their certified software, Alpha II does all the heavy lifting to identify areas for us that will improve our performance and earn more MIPS points. In addition to the positive financial impact of avoiding the significant penalties, Alpha II's fully automated service has reduced my workload as I am no longer burdened with any manual compliance tasks and can now focus on other critical priorities for the practice.”
